Law Versus Saw.

OR MUSINGS FROM THE OFFICE WINDOW.

Sitting in the office was a lawyer—
Standing in the street was a sawyer.
On the lawyer's anxious face
You could read a knotty case,
Needing law;
While the sawyer, gaunt and grim,
On a rough and knotty limb,
Ran his saw.

Now the saw-horse seemed to me
Like a double X in fee;
And the saw,
Which ever way 'twas thrust,
Must be followed by the dust,
Like the law.

And the pig upon the rack,
Like a cut on the neck,
Played its part—
As the tongue of steel
Made a wound that would not heal,
Through the heart.

And each severed stick that fell,
In its falling seemed to tell,
All too plain,
Of the many severed ties,
That in law-suits will arise
Bringing pain.

Then methought the sturdy paw,
That was using axe and saw
On the wood—
Held a yielding mine of wealth,
With its honest toil and health—
Doing good.

If the chips that strewn the ground,
By some stricken widow found
In her need,
Should, by light and warmth impart
Blessings to her aged hand,
Happy deed.

This conclusion then I draw,
That no exercise of law
Twist a Indian rubber law,
Is as good
As the exercise of paw,
On the handle of a saw,
Sawing wood.

LEBANON.

Its present appearance—Its future prospects—Carriage Manufactory.

Ever passer-by is struck with the appearance of neatness, thrift and enterprise of our little village; now swelling itself, in its infancy, into a town, and soon to complete its minority, by assuming the magnitude and importance of being a city, by the late incorporating act of the present Legislature. Then, I trust, we will have a vigilant and efficient police; when we may reasonably hope for better things in relation to the growing immorality of our going-to-be city.

A few years ago we were nothing more than a little mud daubed village, set off to ourselves on the outskirts of civilization, isolated by impassable hills, and more impassable roads, and looked upon by every body, as nothing better than a backwoods set of Pinchmites. But now you hardly ever see a more lovely inland village or town, than is ours. Radiating from it are three turnpikes, or, which is infinitely better, graveled, the praise of which is in the mouth of every traveler. While other towns, (I hope Springfield wont think that I am drawing any invidious comparisons,) are beginning to look old and care-worn, and as if they were about to put on their grave clothes, Lebanon looks as if she was just putting on the freshness and vigor of life.

Now suppose we turn prophet, and predict what she is going to be, provided we get the railroad. In the course of a few months, we expect to hear the neighings of the iron steed, "whose neck is clothed with thunder; the glory of whose nostrils is terrible; who swalloweth up the ground in the fierceness of his anger." Bright visions of her future glory, dance before our prophetic fancy.

But let us not overlook, or disregard the elements of prosperity which we have within ourselves. Every town or community is a unit—the good of each part is the good of the whole. It is the interest of the farmer to do what he can to sustain the merchants and mechanics of his own town; because they in turn create a market for, by becoming consumers of, the products of his farm. If the farmer goes to Louisville, for instance, for his goods, furniture &c; he not only sends his money out of his own reach, but the tendency will be to send the merchant and mechanic after it.

The good citizens of this community have, we think, good reason to congratulate themselves in the recent acquisition to our town of a Carriage Manufactory. This was a thing much needed here. If we wanted repairs done, we must go to Louisville. Besides, in the last few years we know of at least $12,000, in cash, has gone out of our county just for carriages. Hence this county is $12,000 poorer than the world have been had we bought all our carriages at home. There are many reasons why it is the interest of this community to patronize this establishment—1. It is a great convenience; 2. We there-

Smoking in a Stage.

The late Mr. Clay was a man of great resolution and considerable daring. He once told the following anecdote to a friend of ours: Travelling in early manhood, in a public conveyance in a southeastern State he himself in company with three other persons, consisting of a young lady and gentleman, the husband, and an individual muffled in a cloak, whose countenance was concealed, and who appeared to be in a tete-a-tete with Morpheus. Suddenly a big brawny Kentuckian got into the coach smoking a cigar, and frowned fiercely around as much as to say, "I'm half horse, half alligator; the yellow flowers of the forest, all brimstones but the head and ears, and that's aquafortis." In fact he looked savage as a meat-axe, and puffed forth huge volumes of smoke, without reference to the company within, especially the lady who manifested certain timed symptoms of annoyance. Presently after some whispering, the gentleman with her in the politest accent, requested the stranger not to smoke as it annoyed his companion. "I reckon I've paid for my place. I'll smoke as much as I darn please, and all hell shan't stop me, no how." With that he looked dangerous and rolled his eyes round as fiercely as a rattlesnake. It was evident he had no objection to a quarrel and that if it occurred, it was likely to lead to a deadly struggle. The young man who had spoken to him shrunk back and was silent.

Clay felt his gallantry aroused. He considered for a moment whether he should interfere but experienced a natural reluctance to draw upon himself the brutal violence of his gigantic adversary. In that lawless country he knew his life might be sacrificed unavenged. He knew himself physically unequal to the contest and he thought, after all, it was not his business quixotically to take up another man's quarrel. Feeling pity for the insulted, and disgust for the insolent, he determined to take notice; when very quietly indeed the cloaked figure in the corner assumed an upright position, and the mantle was suffered to fall from it without effort or excitement.

The small but, sinewy frame of a man plainly dressed in a tightly buttoned frock coat with nothing remarkable about his appearance, was seen and a pair of bright grey eyes sought the fierce optics of the ferocious Kentuckian. Without a word this lay figure passed his hand under his collar at the back of his neck and slowly, and deliberately pulled forth a long, extremely long, glittering knife from its sheath in that singular place. "Stranger," he said, "my name is Col. James Bowie, well known in Arkansas and Louisiana. And if you don't put that cigar out of the window; in a quarter of a minute, I'll put this knife through your bowels, as sure as death."

Clay said he never forgot in after life the expression of the Colonel's eyes at that moment.—The predominant impression made upon him was the certainty of the threat being fulfilled, and apparently the same conviction impressed itself ere long upon the offender. During two or three seconds his eyes met those of Bowie.—He was the weaker and he quailed. With a curse he tore the cigar from between his teeth, and flung it, scowling but downcast out of the coach window. Upon this Col. James Bowie as deliberately replaced his long knife in its eccentric hiding place and without saying a word to any one refolded his cloak around him, and did not utter another syllable to the end of the journey.—[Quarterly Review for January.

A Good Hit for a Youth.—An old chap in Connecticut, who was one of the most niggardly men known in that part of the country, carried on the blacksmithing business very extensively; and, as is generally the case in that State, boarded all his own hands. And to show how he envied the men what they ate, he would have a bowl of bean soup dished up for himself to cool, while that for the hands was set before them boiling hot. One of the boys was rather unlucky among the hot irons, frequently burning his fingers. The old man scolded him severely one day, for being so careless.

"How can I tell," said the boy, "if they are hot unless they are red?"

"Never touch anything again till you spit on it, if it don't hiss it won't burn."

In a day or two the old man sent the boy to see if his soup was cool. The boy went in—spit in the bowl; of course the soup did not hiss. He went back and told his boss all was right.

"Dinner!" cried he.

All hand run; down sat the old man at the head of the table; and in went a large spoonful of the boiling hot soup to his mouth.

"Good Heavens!" cried the old man, in the greatest rage. "What did you tell me that lie for, you young rascal."

"I did not lie, said the boy, very innocently. 'You told me I should spit on anything to try if it was hot. I spit in your bowl, and the soup did not hiss, so I supposed it was cool."

Judge of the effect on the boys. The boy was never in want of a friend among the journey men.

THE DUTCH WIDOWER.

"Mine frow was no better as she ort to be, till shust before she diet; then she was so good as before," remarked Mr. Vanderbron to his neighbor.

"Your wife was an amiable woman and you do great in justice to her memory," said Swartz.

"Vel, vat you know so much about mine frow, for?"

"I was not intimately acquainted with her, but I am sure all her acquaintances loved her."

"Vot right had they to love her? May be—"

"May be what?"

"May be you loved mine frow too."

"Why do you speak so startigely?"

"Vy, ven day, pig ugly man, shust like you, came into our house and kissed mine frow right before my face?"

"Where, you present at the time?"

"To pe sure I was."

"Well, what did you do?"

"I kicked him right behind his pack," "Dib he resent it?"

"Yaw; he proke me and the glass, and all te rest of te crockery in te house, cept te feather bed, into smash?"

"What did you do then?"

"Then I cried murder! murder! and I called for te shudge and te shury, and te police officer and constable to come, and he rund away?"

"Do you intend to charge me with taking such unwarrantable liberties with the companion of your bosom?"

"Me no I charge nothing for it now, because she be dead and perried."

"I will not allow you to make such insinuations. You are an old tyrant and every body said you were very glad when your wife died."

"Every body be one tam liar."

"I saw no symptoms of sorrow."

"Me felt more must tan if my best cow has died."

"Your cow? What a comparison?"

"She was a great loss—a heavy loss for she was so big as dat (spreading out his arms), and she weighed more tan two hundred pounds."

"Look out old man or you will see trouble I doubt if your wife was ever kissed by any man after her marriage. At all events you must apologize for what you have said to me."

"Vot is pol gise?"

"You must beg my pardon, and say you are sorry, if you do not, I will enter a complaint against you and have you arrested."

"I pe sorry, ten."

"Sorry for what?"

"Sorry you kissed mine frow."

"You incorrigible idiot! That is not what you must say, for I never did such a thing in my life."

"Must I say that you pe sorry that you never did such a thing?"

"No you must take back what you have said."

While the Dutchman was in a dilemma his friend Hons Bamerger, came along and finally succeeded in reconciling the parties when the trio adjourned.

A pious, but illiterate deacon, in a certain town adjacent to Worcester, (Mass,) gave to the coachman a slip of paper, upon which he said, was written the name of a couple of books, which he wished him to call for at Mr. A——'s bookstore. The driver called at the store, and handing the memorandum to a clerk, said:

"There's a couple of books which Deacon B. wishes you to send to him."

The clerk, after a careful examination of the paper, was unable to make 'head or tail' of it, and passed it to the book-keeper who was supposed to know something of the letters; but to him it was also 'Greek.' The proprietor was called, and he also gave the thing up in despair; and it was finally concluded best to send the memorandum back to the deacon, as it was supposed he must have sent the wrong paper. As the coach arrived at the village inn, the driver saw the deacon waiting on the steps.

"Well driver," said he, "did you get my books to-day?"

"Books? no; and a good reason why, for there couldn't a man in Worcester read your old hen-tracks."

"Couldn't read 'ritin'?" Let me see the paper!"

The driver drew it from his pocket, and passed it to the deacon, who, taking out and carefully adjusting his glasses, held the memorandum at arm's length, exclaiming, as he did so, in a very satisfied tone: "Why, it's as plain as the nose on your face!—To S-A-M B-U-X—'two psalms books' I guess his clerk had better go to school awhile!"

And here the deacon made some reflections upon the 'ignorance of the times,' and the want of attention to books by the 'rising generation,' which would have been all very well, if said by somebody else.

They have a 'dre'ful mean man in Iowa. He gave the measles to a neighbor the other day, and has been crying ever since—not because he parted with the measles, but because he had to give them away. Could he have sold them, 'he would have died happy.' He is a brother to the old gent who resides at Troy and who never has green peas for dinner without remembering the poor—he sends the pods to the Orphan Asylum.

Dry Food.

There are numerous disadvantages necessarily attending the feeding of neat stock exclusively on dry food. Horses, oxen—and, in short, all domestic animals—fed on cut hay in a dry state obstinately refuse after a time to consume all that is given them. They become fastidious and consequently less healthy and thrifty in condition than when fed partly on moist or succulent food.

The New England Farmer says that the process which experience has demonstrated to be most judicious and economical, and, at the same time the best adapted to promote the several objects contemplated by the feeder, is the following:

A through or other suitable vessel of sufficient capacity, is to be provided and into which a sufficiency of cut oat, rye, or wheat straw, stalks, or hay, is to be put to furnish all the animals with a single meal. For every three animals to be fed, put four quarts of meal, with just enough water to moisten it and let it stand for several hours or if practicable, till incipient fermentation commenced, and has a slight acidity is perceptible. In this state feed it to your animals, and you will find that not a particle will be refused by them and that they will continue in better condition than when fed exclusively on any other feed. If desirable, the process of preparing the food may be further systematized by having several troughs for mixing the ingredients. This will enable the feeder to prepare food in advance of his wants and consequently to have a feed always ready at the hour it is wanted. A straw-cutter of the latest and most improved pattern, should be found on every farm. It will enable the husbandman to work up, to good advantage, a large amount of material that would otherwise possess no actual value except for manure. By cutting cornstalks, tops, and butts, fine, mixing with them a quantity of roots or apples chopped into small pieces or rasped with a rasping machine, and scattering over them a very small quantity of meal of any kind together with a little salt, a very palatable and nutritious food will be secured and one on which the most animals will winter as well as upon the best Englishhay.

Pumpkins and squashes, as well as roots and apples are often prepared and mixed with refuse fodder in this way.

But, as we believe, the true way of preparing feed for farm stock of all kinds is not yet practiced in this country. We believe the time will come when steam may be used so that after paying the interest of the cost of the fixtures and fuel, a saving of nearly or quite one-fourth of all the hay, roots, and grain may be made, and that the farmer may have that surplus over and above what he now has to sell. Who, among our enterprising farmers, will commence the experiment?

VASTNESS OF THE UNIVERSE.—Prof. Hitchcock in one of his popular scientific works, has aptly illustrated the vastness of the universe. Light, although apparently visible instantaneously, really requires an appreciable time to travel. A flash of lightning occurring on earth would not be visible on the moon till a second and a quarter afterwards; on the sun till eight minutes; at the planet Jupiter, when at its greatest distance from us, till fifty-two minutes; on Uranus till two hours; on Neptune till four hours and a quarter; on the star of Vega, of the first magnitude, till forty-five years; on a star of the eighth magnitude, till one hundred and eighty years; and on stars of the twelfth magnitude, till four thousand years—and stars of this magnitude are visible through telescopes; nor can we doubt that, with better instruments, stars of this magnitude might be seen so that we may confidently say that the flash of lightning would not reach the remotest heavenly body till more than six thousand years—a period equal to that which has elapsed since man's creation. Here in vastness beyond the capacity of the mind to contemplate.

Good Enough to be True.—The Lynn News, tells the following story of an incredulous boy whose father had promised him before death to hold 'spiritual communication' with him.

The spirit of the old gentleman (who by the way, had been somewhat severe in the matters of discipline) was called up and held some conversation with the boy. But the messages were not at all convincing, and the youth would not believe that his father had anything to do with them.

"Well said the medium 'what can your father do to remove your doubts?"

"If he will perform some act which is characteristic of him and without any direction as to what it shall be, I shall believe in it."

"Very well," said the medium; "we wait some manifestation from the spirit land."

This was no sooner said than (as the story goes) a table walked up to the youth, and without much ceremony, kicked him out of the room!

"Hold on! stop him!" cried the terrified youth. "That's the old man! I believe in the rappings!"

Our hero has never since had a desire to stir up the old gentleman.

LEBANON, KY.,

Wednesday Morning, Mar. 15, 1854.

We are authorized to announce HENRY H. HUGHES, as a candidate for the office of County Clerk at the ensuing August Election.

If WM. MILBURN will consent to run as candidate for Jailor of this County he will be supported by Messrs. Abell & Wimsatt's new store has been completed, and those gentlemen have moved into it. We have traveled about some, and seen a good many handsome stores, but we must say that this one surpassed both in beauty and convenience, any we have ever seen outside of a populous and wealthy city. Mr. R. M. Bowman, the builder, has certainly done himself great credit, in the manner in which he has done this job. Mr. Abell, one of the firm is now in the East, purchasing goods of the rarest, most tasty, and best quality to fill this fine structure; and when he returns, all the world will be advised of the fact of their arrival through the proper channel—the Post.

Passing down street, the other day, we were startled by an unusual noise, and almost suffocated by a cloud of dust. Upon reaching a safe distance, we turned, to discover what it all meant. We beheld a lot of workmen engaged in literally tearing in pieces the store-house just vacated by Messrs. Abell & Wimsatt. The rattling of the hatchet and the crowbar, wielded by sturdy arms, made anything like proximity dangerous to nervous temperaments. Our friend Mr. J. Hennings, having purchased the house, at once set about remodeling it. He has lately entered into copartnership with our much esteemed friend Mr. J. R. Knott. Mr. K. is now in the East purchasing a stock of goods for the firm; and from his known good taste, something rich in the way of goods, may safely be expected on his return.

That was not a bad idea. "Tab" gave utterance to, in speaking of the overflow of a river after a heavy rain. He says: "It had put on its Sunday clothes, and felt mighty big, because it had rented all the land in its immediate neighborhood."

The following scraps were contributed to us by an interesting and lovely little miss. The first is an answer given by her little brother to his parent; the second is a conundrum propounded to our readers, by herself.

"Bob," said his Pa, after examining him in a lesson he had been reading;—"what is the meaning of mushroom?"

"Well I reckon it is a room where they make mush."

What merchant is that in our town, the initials of whose name will spell a girl's name either backwards or forwards?

MAGDIE.

Again 'are we under obligations to Hon. C. S. Hill, for public documents, speeches, &c. Hon. J. C. BRECKENRIDGE will also receive our thanks for like favors.

The Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Hay, Corn, Gats, Farming Utensils Household and Kitchen Furniture, belonging to the late Thomas and Susan Thompson, deceased, will be sold at public outcry, on Tuesday, the 21st inst. Also nine likely young Negroes. The sale will come off at the house formerly occupied by the deceased, two miles East of Fredericksburg, on the Springfield pike.

Some time during the dry weather last Summer, a farmer stepped into the Sadler Shop of Mr. Hite, across from our office and said:

"How much do you charge for reins?"

"Do you want a good one?"

"Yes, the best that can be had."

"I can make you one for fifty cents."

"Well, pitch in, old hoss, my craps haint had a bit of rain for four weeks."

Uncle Reed looked unhappy.

We understand that M'Neff's troupe of Sable Harmonists, will pay our place a visit during the present week. The Danville Tribune speaks in very flattering terms of their performance.

There is to be a sale of goods, real and personal estate, at Linchburg on Friday and Saturday, the 17th and 18th inst. at auction. The goods will be sold on Friday, the 17th; and the houses, lots, &c., on Saturday.

The Floods

Never has that ancient individual—"the oldest inhabitant"—ever experienced, witnessed, or even read of such an incessant, interminable, and withal wet rain, as occurred last week. It had been raining a little during the previous week; but that seemed to be but a fore-runner of what came after. The rain seems to have been general too; for we hear of floods in every direction. The loss of property must be very great.

We understand that Mr. George Connor, of Fredericksburg, has lost a large amount of property. Upwards of one hundred barrels of flour, was destroyed in his mill, together with some 7 or $800 worth of live stock; besides, one dwelling house, and an immense amount of damage to his fencing mill, &c.

The turnpike between this place and Springfield has been damaged to the amount of between three and four hundred dollars.

A large amount of damage has been done in this county, upon the streams; the veriest spring branch, furnishing its quota of devastation. A large amount of swine, cattle and horses, have been, we understand, swept away by the general deluge. But, as these things are generally exaggerated, we sincerely hope that the damage is not so great as represented.

We understand that the Salt River has been terribly high; and that it has swept everything from its banks which was movable. The gentleman who lives just at the Bardstown and Louisville turnpike bridge, lost several outhouses with their contents, together with about one hundred head of hogs. The water was about six feet deep upon the pike, at that place. A negro wagoner belonging to the female academy of Nazareth, near Bardstown, came along and stopped his wagon, at the water's edge. He then ungereed one of his horses and rode in, along the pike; to ascertain, we presume, whether or not he could venture across with his wagon. As he neared the bridge, his horse became stubborn, and in attempting to whip him forward, the horse reared and fell backwards off the pike, into water supposed to be one hundred feet deep; and the rider and horse both were drowned.

We also understand that a man living not far from the above named spot, and upon the same river, lost three of his children being unable to snatch them from the flood, so rapid was the rise.

We learn from our Louisville exchanges, that the Ohio river has also been remarkably high.

We learn from a letter, just received by N. T. Berry, Esq., that Mr. McKEIGNEY, has been prevailed upon by his friends and patrons to resume his professional labors in Vincennes, Ia. We give below the card of Mr. M., published in the Patriot, as also a very flattering notice by the editor. We are rejoiced to see our old friend, so highly and so properly appreciated.

A Card.

My dear Patrons:—Having come to the conclusion to change my residence and vocation, I deem it due you as well as myself to acknowledge, through the columns of the Patriot,—not having it at my command to do so in person,—the many obligations under which your kind offices, unlimited confidence and extensive patronage have placed me. In doing this, and bidding you a fond adieu, permit me to assure you that the reminiscence of the time spent in your midst, shall be a pleasurable one—one among the brightest spots on "memory's waste."

To my pupils, endeared to me as children to parent, let me renew my oft repeated advice: be your course onward, and upward in the path of virtue and honor. O my dear young friends! how it will cheer me in after years to learn that my efforts in your behalf have been availing—my admonitions regarded. Adieu.

J. McKEIGNEY.

By his card it will be seen that Professor McKeigney has ceased from his labors here. This, we know, will be sad news to his many patrons and friends, to whom his rare merits as a skillful teacher, and gentlemanly deportment have endeared him. He leaves for his home in Kentucky with the regrets—though best wishes of many, who like himself, had the pleasure of his acquaintance; thus making a void in the educational circle in Vincennes, which we hope—may it not be in vain—will be filled soon. He carries with him the best wishes of many friends. In saying thus much, and bespeaking a cordial welcome for the Professor wherever he may elect to reside, we do but give utterance to the general sentiment of our people. Success attend him wherever he may go.—Vincennes, (Ia.) Patriot.

The Legislature of Ky. has adjourned.

Mr. George Peterman, of Iowa, who has been laboring, for some time, under a fit of semi-insanity on religion, left his house on the night of 28th ult., and remained so long, that his wife became uneasy and sent his brother to look for him. A few feet from the door, the object of his search was discovered laying on his face, with his throat cut from ear to ear, and waltering in blood.

ARRIVAL OF THE ASIA.

New York, March 8.

The steamer Asia arrived at Halifax last night with dates to the 25th ult.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 25.—Sales of cotton during the week, 40,000 bales, at a slight decline on the lower grades. Speculators 4,000, and exporters 3,000 bales. Stock at Liverpool 600,000 bales, of which 3,000 bales are American.

Consols were steady. It was reported that France and England would shortly issue a joint manifesto, equivalent to a declaration of war.

The Greek insurrection is more formidable than was anticipated, and great excitement prevailed in Greece.

Lord Palmerston has officially announced the unconditional pardon of Wm. Smith O'Brien, the Irish patriot.

The demand for breadstuffs has fallen off, and prices were in favor of buyers. Western canal flour is quoted at 40s. 6d. @41s. Ohio and similar brands at 41s. @41s. 6d. Yellow corn 57s., white 48s. per quarter. Beef had slightly advanced. Pork and lard were dull prices in favor of buyers. Bacon continued in active demand.—Trade at Manchester was unchanged. Money continued easy at London. At Havre cotton was steady.

There had been no further military or naval battles reported.

England and France continued to make extraordinary preparations for war. Austria was sending more troops to the southwestern frontiers.

ADDITIONAL BY THE ALPS.

Flour at Liverpool has declined on the week 6d. Wheat active at last week's prices. Corn declined 2s on week. Provisions without material change. Consols declined 14.

The Bark Benn Dee, from Savannah to Liverpool, was picked up off the coast of Ireland waterlogged. The crew had been twelve days without food or water, ten of whom, including the master, were dead from starvation. The remaining seven were landed at Swansea and are doing well.

The allied fleets were ordered to remain in the Bosphorus.

No further operations on the Danube. Omar Pasha had hanged two Greek spies.

Kafat was garrisoned by 30,000 troops. Gen. Auress, who commanded the Russians at Citale, had been disgraced and sent to the Caucasus.

The British steamer Hadie with Turks on board went ashore near Sebastopol and were seized by the Russians.

Russia was still endeavoring to impress a holy character on the war to the soldiery. They are told that they are on the way to rescue Christ's sepulchre from the infidels.

From Asia we learn that the Russians had again been repulsed at Shekatek, with the loss of 2,000 men.

The Prince Servia had arrived at Vienna; his object is supposed to be to negotiate for the temporary occupation of the Servia by Austrian troops.

England was in a state of war, troops embarking at all points. The British contingent land force had increased 30,000 men Lord Raglan having refused to command otherwise.

The Queen's Guards and a regiment of cavalry were to embark at Southampton on the 22d. Six other regiments were holding themselves in readiness. Engineers, sappers, and miners, flying artillery, and field batteries were all in readiness for embarkation at various stations. All the regiments in the service have been raised to 1,000 men.—The artillery men arrived with Minie rifles.

The Niagara was to embark troops at Liverpool on the 22d, and the Cambria at Kingston, Ireland, on the 25th.

War was becoming popular and recruits were abundant, especially from Ireland. The first detachment of the Baltic fleet was already at Spithead.

In the house of Commons on Thursday, Mr. D'Israeli asked if Napoleon's letter to the Czar was authentic.

Lord Russell replied: "Yes, and that the British Government hold themselves responsible for its sentiments."

It is rumored that Nicholas' answer has been received, and it is unfavorable.

Eighty thousand troops the flower of the French army, were ready to embark at the same time with the English troops.

The Monitor contains official news of the annexation of New Caledonia.

Austria was making great preparations for war, and her conduct excited suspicious of infidelity to the allied cause.

THE CINCINNATI CUSTOM HOUSE.—We are sorry to observe that the progressive and utilitarian spirit of the age, has at length "pitched into" that very interesting ruin at the corner of Fourth and Vine streets. Passing there yesterday, we saw the heavy force of three men leisurely employed; two of them laying brick and the other sitting sand. The antiquarian can now ever, enjoy the consolation that three laborers, working with the energy heretofore expended on similar affairs, will not be likely to affect much change during the present generation.—Cin. Columbian.

Another Great Fire in New York!

Yesterday morning, our city was visited by another one of those disastrous conflagrations which, during the last winter have swept away so many millions of dollars worth of property. About 2 o'clock in the morning one of the officers of the Second district police, saw flames issuing from the basement of the large bindery No. 8, Spruce street, and the alarm of fire immediately sounded over the city.

As usual the firemen were on the ground almost before the first notes of the Hall bell had died away, and immediately several streams of water were falling upon the flames. Notwithstanding the exertions of the firemen and the police the fire continued gradually to increase until half past 3 o'clock when the entire building became enveloped in one blaze. With the rapidity of electricity the flames communicated to the adjoining buildings and before 4 o'clock five of the largest establishments on Spruce street were adding to the conflagration. Many of the floors of these buildings being filled with paper and other combustible material, accounts for the rapid increase of the fire.

The five buildings which were consumed were Nos. 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16, Spruce street; and several of the new buildings now being erected on Beekman street, were more or less damaged by the walls of the burning ruins which adjoined them in the rear. At one time during the conflagration the scene was grand. All of those buildings being on fire at one time, a tremendous sheet of flame rose above the block, which lit up, almost with the light of the day, the lower part of the city and a greater portion of Brooklyn. The East river was illuminated from Corlaer's Hook Battery, and the various water craft plying to and fro upon the sparkling waters were lighted on their way by this grand midnight torch.

At about six o'clock when half the block from a distance seemed in a blaze, it was feared that the conflagration would be more disastrous than any which visited us during the past few months. Not only the entire block for a while seemed in great danger, but the wind being rather high carried the living coals to great distance on the roofs of houses and on the heads of spectators threatening conflagration to more blocks than one. But adjoining No. 16 was a large six story brick building unoccupied and unfinished, which stopped the progress of the fire, affording nothing for the devouring elements to feed upon. On the Beekman street side the consuming houses were also stopped by unfinished buildings which also stopped the progress of the fire in that direction. But for this fortunate boundary by mere shells of houses, there is no conjecturing where the conflagration would have ended.

The fire originated in some rags stored away in the basement of building No. 8, Spruce street.—The cause of it, or how the fire came there is yet not known. While the flames were raging fiercely, the report spread that vitriol was stored in one of the houses, which caused much sensation among the firemen.

There could not have been less than three hundred thousand dollars worth of property destroyed. A valuable stock of paper was in two or three of the buildings and several large steam presses were buried beneath the ruins. The Harpers came in for a share in the loss of not less than $50,000. There seems to be some fatality at present hanging over them. But a little while ago, their entire establishment in Cliff street was laid in ashes, the fire fiend sweeping away at one fell swoop, over half a million of their property. And now before the ruins of their former site have hardly grown cold, $50,000 more of their property is enwrapped in flames.

PEORIA ILLINOIS.—The press of the 25th says: "In Peoria, not only every warehouse and store room is full of grain and flour, but every cellar in which it is safe to put grain, is also occupied. Several large warehouses are now being erected for that purpose, one of which is over 200 feet long and 50 wide. We know of one dealer who has over two hundred thousand bushels of grain now in store and three that have over one hundred thousand bushels each. There is at present in Peoria near one million bushels of grain, awaiting the opening of the river and canal for Eastern market. A great portion of this would go forward by railroad if it was completed; and as fast as removed the warehouses would be refilled by grain from the country. If we have the requisite facilities for shipping by canal and by railroad, we may calculate on business of over two millions of bushels in grain alone this season, with a large increase in pork, flour and whisky."

A NEW THING.—Two ladies appeared on the streets of Baltimore, dressed in the height of fashion, says the Baltimore Clipper, one of them wearing a long trail to her magnificent silk dress, which swept the ground for several feet behind. Following them was a stout Irish boy, apparently about 14 years old, dressed in livery, consisting of tight pantaloons, red vest and tight bodied coat with large buttons; and had a high black hat put on his head, with a white feather in it. All together, it was singular custom for this country, much less for Democratic Baltimore. The young livery man's chief occupation seemed to be to raise his young mistress' trail as she crossed the streets and muddy places. A number of youngsters, attracted by the novelty, followed on, and, as might be expected, began to annoy the "livery," when he turned around and had a bout with several of the young disciples of Democracy. The ladies with their livery follower finally entered a store on Gay street, and thus the young "livery" escaped from his tormentors.

FAILURE OF THE MAIL.—The heavy rains have placed a pretty effectual embargo on the mails for the time being. Last night the mail from Shelbyville was the only one received at the Louisville Post Office. The mails from Lexington, Frankfort, Nashville, Bardstown, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Vincennes, &c., &c., all failed to arrive.—Louisville Courier Mar. 11th.

VERY SAD.—A young man was sent to State's Prison from Poughkeepsie a few days since.—While his mother was getting into the wagon to bid adieu to her unhappy son, the horses started and she was thrown on the ground and her back broken. She lived but a few hours afterwards.

Burning of the Steamer Carolina!

By the arrival of the steamer Memphis Monday morning we learn that the steamer Carolina, a Memphis and White river packet, was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last the 5th inst., between 3 and 4 o'clock about 20 miles above the mouth of White river, whilst on her way from Memphis to Jacksonport. The Memphis Evening News, of the 6th inst., from which we glean the particulars of this terrible disaster, has the following:

"We cannot find language to express the feelings awakened in our bosom on listening to the recital of the horrible disaster by Captain Folger who came passenger on the St. Nicholas. Among those who perished we notice the names of Mr. Trice one of the pilots; Captain James Creighton of this city; and Lewis Pollock, a young lad. Mr. Trice had but lately been married to the young and interesting daughter of Recorder Hill. She who so lately was a joyous and happy bride, now is a bereaved widow mourns the sad fate of her brave husband. Poor Trice! when last seen, he was at his post endeavoring to run the boat ashore in which he succeeded and lost his own life in the heroic attempt to save the lives of others."

At the time of the accident the captain had about $5,000 in the safe belonging to others, which was entirely lost. When she had burned to the water's edge, she straightened herself up and down the river and sunk in about 30 feet water. There was a large number of passengers on board of which but few were saved. Out of ten deck hands but two escaped.

Rebellion in Southern Missouri.

Thos. C. Reynolds, Esq., District Attorney of the United States, was, a few months since, informed that a number of persons residing in McDonald county Missouri, together with many from Arkansas, were, and had been for the last twelve months, engaged with circular saws in destroying all valuable pine and other timber on the public lands of the United States. The District Attorney, acting under instructions, authorized process to issue for the apprehension of the offenders. The writs were placed in the hands of Maj. Bryant, United States Marshal for this district, who went himself to McDonald county to execute them.

We learn from a letter received yesterday by B. F. Hickman, Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, that the persons against whom the writs issued had collected together about one hundred and fifty of their friends and associates, and had forced the Marshal and his deputies not only to leave the county, but the State also. The Marshal was, at last accounts, at the hotel in Bentonville, Arkansas, with seventeen of the law resisting party around the hotel, demanding of the landlord that the Marshal should be delivered up to them. The citizens an officers there were defending him. Major Bryant had sent to Fort Gibson, to United States officers, for assistance, and had written to Gov. Pierce for aid.—St. Louis Int. Mar. 6th.

CUMBERLAND, March 5.—The recent strike of the miners in the coal regions here, it is feared, will cause serious trouble, if not a bloody riot.

In a procession of the disaffected, banners were carried inscribed—"FORTY CENTS A TON—VICTORY OR DEATH!"

The strikers went to several of the mines and forced those laboring there to quit immediately.

It is reported that several hundred miners are arriving from New York, well armed, for the purpose of aiding the rioters.

The Rapp Community residing at Economy, a short distance below Pittsburgh, have remitted $260,000 to New York during the present season, for the purchase of various western railroad securities.—The sum was in English sovereigns, which has been hoarded in their vaults since the disastrous times of 1837.

MAN KILLED.—We understand that Gus. Herrel was killed in Grayson county on last Saturday week, under the following circumstances: During last August a riot occurred at one of the precincts in which Herrel took an active part, and for which he was fined; he refused to pay, and a short time since the magistrate who assessed the fine issued a capias, in which he ordered the constable to take him dead or alive. The constable summoned a posse, and went to Herrel's house. When they got within forty yards, Herrel with an axe drawn warned them not to enter the yard, whereupon the constable ordered his men to fire. One of them stepped behind a tree, took aim with a rifle, and shot Herrel dead. The fellow was tried before an examining court and acquitted.—Elizabethtown Register.

Great alarm prevailed along the levee yesterday, and the inmates of the houses on Water street, are removing their goods to the upper stories as fast as possible. A large number of hands are engaged in removing sugar, molasses, &c., from the warehouses in the vicinity of the wharf.—Louisville Democrat Mar. 11th.

VERY SAD.—A young man was sent to State's Prison from Poughkeepsie a few days since.—While his mother was getting into the wagon to bid adieu to her unhappy son, the horses started and she was thrown on the ground and her back broken. She lived but a few hours afterwards.

The Martha Washington Case.

We are informed by officers Harding and Meara, who have just returned from Helena, of the following facts relative to the prisoners in the above case:

On Friday last, a writ of habeas corpus was sworn out by Mr. Yerger, defendants' counsel, and they were brought before the court upon its issuing.

The Hon. Mr. Yerger claimed their right to an immediate trial or their release, and the Prosecuting Attorney asking for time until he could receive information from Little Rock, the request of the Prosecuting Attorney was complied with, and the trial on habeas corpus was postponed until this, Wednesday morning, at 8 o'clock.

The prisoners appear in good spirits, being allowed to take their meals at a hotel, near the jail, and being furnished with bedding which they purchased of the Belle Sheridan. Messrs. Harding and Meara says that the citizens of Helena were considerably surprised on the arrival of the prisoners, being totally unaware that they were to be brought there for trial. There is no vindictive feelings among them in regard to the prisoners, and say they shall have a fair trial.—The officers report the arrival of J. V. Smith, and we suppose as S. C. Burton is in company with him, that he also is there.

Messrs. T. & E. Steven offer the beautiful square lying next west of Cedar Grove in Portland, for sale. It is beyond doubt a beautiful site for private residences.—Louisville Democrat.

MAD DOGS.—During the past week from 17 to 20 dogs supposed to be laboring under the effects of hydrophobia, have been shot in the District of Northern Liberties. The Dog law will be put in force this day throughout the District when death to the canine race may be expected.—Phil. Sun.

The contributions received at the Washington National Monument from the 2d of February, to the 3d of March amounted in the aggregate to $7,000 74. The expense for the month of February, amounted to $7,583 50.

BALL ACQUITTED.—The case of the Commonwealth vs. Wm. S. Ball, upon an indictment for the murder of his wife, which has occupied the time of the Court for the last week, and has been attended with a degree of interest which we have rarely seen equaled, was brought to a close on Monday evening last.

The jury retired a few minutes before 5 o'clock on Monday evening, and at the opening of Court the next morning came in with a verdict of "not guilty."—Lez. Observer.

Dick Tinto writing from Paris (Jan 26) to the New York Daily Times, gives the following seven league Boots experiment: "Two remarkable experiments in aerostation have highly astonished this city. Of the first I did not write you, for I supposed it a hoax. But it has been repeated since, and an eye witness has told me of the wonderful results. A man enveloped in a net work containing a large number of bladders filled with hydrogen gas, ran, two sundays ago, down the Champs Elysees at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour. His leaps were enormous; the ascensional power of the gas was not sufficient to carry him up, but it neutralized three fourths of his weight. Last Sunday he renewed the experiment upon an exterior Boulevard with a little more gas. He made forty miles an hour, and said that with a favorable wind he could easily make forty-five, and beat any locomotive without fatigue. With the tremendous muscular power possessed by man, it is evident that if he could in any way lengthen his legs, as this invention in reality does, he would realize the fable of the most agile cleon of the circus, who was present, agreed soon, with a similar apparatus, to jump over the Seine. I understand that a dozen machines with improvements are now in course of fabrication, and that the idea of annihilating space has seized upon more than one adventurous brain. As to the aeronauts, they all acknowledge that they may as well burn their balloons."

A SINGULAR BILL.—A bill is before the New York legislature, which provides that every person who shall obtain a livelihood by fishing, shall, towards the close of the fishing season impregnate the spawn taken from at least two dozen female fish, with the milk taken from the same number of male fish, and plant the same upon their fishing ground; in the breach of a justice of the peace living in the district. The penalty for a violation of this provision is to be a fine of fifty dollars.

Special Notices.

Dr. Geohegan's Hydropiper.

Is prepared by a regular Physician, and is of purely Vegetable ingredients, the names of which accompany each bottle. It is a pleasant, safe and certain cure for diseases of women. For Kidney Affections, Impurities of the Blood, diseases of the Skin, Dyspepsia and Scrofula it has never had an equal. It is a slight stimulant, and a powerful tonic and alterative. See advertisement.

NEGROES WANTED.

I WISH to purchase a few likely young Negroes or Born Sex; for IN CASH. Address WM. MATTINGLY, Bardstown, Ky. June 29 6m

DR. GEOHEGAN'S EXTRACT OF HYDROPIPER, For Dyspepsia, Scrofula, and all impurities of the blood.

Prepared by one of the Faculty.

THIS vegetable remedy which is now spreading to all parts of the country, is prepared by a graduate of one of the first Medical Schools in the west; a physician of high standing in his profession, and as much opposed to empiricism or quackery as any one can be, as is shown by the fact that the recipe is published, and accompanies each bottle of the medicine; thus exonerating it from the charge of being a nostrum.

It is prescribed by Physicians, and will be seen by reference to the Circular and by the accompanying certificate.

Unlike Sarsaparilla the Hydropiper is quick in its action, the first bottle often producing wonderful results, as in the case of the negrill of Mrs. Simon's, of Louisville, who was relieved of Blindness in One Week!! In short, it has excited the wonder and admiration of all who have used it, and wherever known stands at the head of all remedies for the following diseases:

Dyspepsia, Scrofula, White Swelling, Mesenteric Diseases or Negro Consumption, Scourvy, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Sores, Ulcers, and all Cutaneous or Skin Diseases; all female irregularities and obstructions. Mercurial Diseases, Secondary Syphilis, General Debility, and all disorders arising from impure blood and bad Habit of System.

For Female Complaints this remedy stands unrivalled. Its effects are wonderful. It is a slight stimulant and a powerful tonic and alterative.

As a beautifier of the complexion, in the cure of pimples and blotches, in producing a clear and beautiful skin, it is as much more safe and sure remedy than all the cosmetics and lotions in existence. Try it and you will never regret it. Do not lose confidence if it shd seem at first to increase the disease—the general effect of the medicine being to drive all impurities to the surface, and by that means out of the system.

HARDENSBURG, Ky., Oct. 6, 1851. Dr. A. E. Geohegan—Dear Sir: I have examined your recipe for Compound Fluid Extract of Hydropiper, for the cure of Scrofula in all its forms, and other chronic affections, viz Rheumatism, Female Weakness, &c. Having prescribed, and watched its effects in many cases of the above diseases, and having always found it effectual, I most cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted as the best alterative and tonic I have ever used; altogether superior to Sarsaparilla, and any of its compounds.

PROTECTION INSURANCE COMPANY

(Fire, Marine and Inland)

OF

HARTFORD, CONN.

Incorporated 1825.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

A. G. HAZARD, C. H. NORTHAM, E. SEELER, W. H. THALL, JNO. WARBURTON, W. KELLOGG, W. B. ROBBINS, E. HILLS, D. W. CLARK, L. HUMPHREY, T. BELKNAP, W. A. WARD, WM. WILLIAMS, D. CLARK, D. W. CLARK, President.

WM. CONNER, Sec'y.

The attention of property holders is respectfully called to the superior advantages for FIRE, MARINE and INLAND INSURANCE, offered by the PROTECTION INSURANCE CO.

The undersigned has been furnished with blank policies, signed by the officers of the Company; also with blank renewal receipts, for continuing policies already issued, and is duly authorized and prepared, as agent of said Company, to make insurance for any period of time, not less than one month nor greater than seven years, upon buildings or their contents, occupied as Dwellings, Stores, Warehouses, Churches, Hotels, Banks, Court Houses, Colleges, &c., &c., and their contents against

LOSS OR DAMAGE BY FIRE.

Also, on Dry Goods, Groceries, Manufactured Goods, Produce, Household Furniture, Live Stock, and every other description of Merchandise and Personal Property, shipped or to be shipped per good Steamboat or boats, to and from points on the Western Waters, or between Eastern Cities [via Lakes or other inland routes] and any town in the Western country, against the hazards of Inland Transportation.

Also, on Shipments of Goods, Wares and Merchandise, per good vessel or vessels between New Orleans and Eastern ports—between New Orleans and other Gulf ports—

Scissoring.

The last case of jealousy is that of a lady who discarded her lover, a sea captain, because, in one of his voyages, he said he hugged the shore!

Some one has thus defined love: A little sighing, a little crying, a little dying, and a deal of lying.

A brutal teacher whipped a little boy for pressing the hand of little girl who sat next to him at school, after which he asked the child "why he squeezed the girl's hand?" "Because," said the little fellow, "it looked so pretty I couldn't help it."

A Western paper, speaking of a newly elected Senator, says his ignorance is so dense that the auger of common sense will be longer in boring through it than it would take a boiled carrot to bore through the Hoosac Mountain.

Why should the Greeks living in the vicinity of the Dardanelles prefer the Sultan of Turkey to the Russian Czar? Because they say this is the Boss for us, (Bosphorus.)

That was not a bad answer that Bonifacio gave to the "sitting magistrate": "Is there any champagne made in England?" "In course there is, my Lord; if there was n't what would become of the gooseberry crop?"

A gentleman of African extraction, who used to display his grinning combination of ivory and ebony about Indianapolis, was asked by a white gentleman—"How old are you, Sam?" "Twenty-five, Massa," was the reply; "but if you counts by de fun I's seen, jest call me seventy-five."

One of the worst peculiarities connected with ignorance is its crudities. A block-head never laughs so loud as when he sees an old woman slip on an orange peel and pitch head foremost into a coal vault.

SPARKS—"Maldin't the minister say, last Sunday, that the sparks flew upwards?" "Yes, my dear, how came you to be thinking of it?" "Because yesterday I saw cousin Sally's spark stagger along the street and fall downward." "Here, Bridget, put this child to bed; she must be getting sleepy."

Parents should not love their children unequally, or if they do, they should not show it, lest they should make the one proud and the other envious, and both fools! Where their nature has made the difference, it is the duty of the tender parent to help the weakest. That trial is unfair where affection is the judge.

A VEGETABLE PEDIGREE.—"What's that horse out of?" said a fellow with a view to quiz a farmer's boy, who was riding an old horse, which showed less blood than bone. "Out of?" "Yes, what's he out of—do you know?" "Yes, I do." "Well, what?" "He's out of oats!"

Oregon is progressive. We learn from the Oregonian, that the young men of Portland are about getting up a Debating Society or Lyceum. The following is the first subject: "Was Napoleon right, or wasn't he?" As the right is not applied to any particular action, we should not wonder if they adjourned to meet again.

A wag says that our prison statistics, in an educational point of view, indicate that the case of so many being brought up before the judge, is owing to their being so badly brought up before they arrive at maturity. Not a bad 'put in' that.

When a returned ambassador introduced to King James a Spanish noble of mean intellect, but covered with jewelry, Janie exclaimed—"Hoot! mon, and ye remind me of Solomon's importation—gold, peacocks and apes."

A good story is told of an eccentric old gentleman, who was once Postmaster in Providence, R. I. A wag, who thought he would play off some trick upon him, went to his house some time in the night, and after rapping loudly for sometime, he roused the old man, who came to the window and exclaimed—

"What do you want?"

Whereupon the wag replied, very coolly—

"Nothing—only I have put a letter in your box—you will know where it is to go by the directions on it."

It is needless to add that the old man retired in a rage.

HOW TO GET UP A BLOODY AFFRAY.—Get into debt, dunned, get worried, make excuse; creditor obdurate, bores, blackguards, threaten, and—you get mad, and "rip out" something most pleasant to repeat. Things go on, time slips away, creditor takes sundry occasions to state facts; bad enough, interlarded with lies; still worse. Debtor works himself into a sweat, invests four bits on a raw hide; creditor hears it, and goes five dollars better on a second hand six shooter—Debtor sees his hand and takes a four pound bowie. The plot thickens the creditor takes a horn debtor takes two; debtor and creditor meet in a crowd, debtor lead off with a raw hide, creditor follows suit with a flash of bullets; debtor "pitches in" with his bowie, crowd scatter, the interested parties fly out the game, and both get uoored. Half an hour before debtor came down town in his boots and overshot, valiant as a Georgia Major; now he is toated home on a shatter limber as a rag, and four ugly holes in his head. Creditor, who a few hours previous left his shop in full health now requires an expert surgeon to sew him up being split like a shad and ripped crosswise, equal to a foretop in a typhoon. Finale, coroner's inquest, weeping wives, and crying children, thrilling items for the daily papers and able docten voters—counted out. This is human nature, as exemplified by plug muss.

PROSPECTUS OF ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

NEAR LEBANON, MARION CO., KY.

This Literary Institution, founded in 1851, by the late REV. WILLIAM BYRNE, and subsequently conducted for many years by the Jesuits, is now under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop of Louisville, who will always take means to provide a suitable Faculty for carrying it on with a view to promote the greatest public good. Under the auspices of its previous conductors, the Institution has been instrumental in widely diffusing the blessings of a religious education throughout Kentucky and the adjoining States.—The steadiness of its patronage has been a constant evidence of the public approval. The beauty and salubrity of the situation, as well as the spaciousness and commodiousness of the College Buildings, are generally known. It will be the constant aim of the Faculty to adopt, so far as practicable, the plan which it was so well and so usefully conducted by its enlightened and benevolent Founder.

Scott's Weekly Paper.

The Publishers of this large and popular Family Journal offers for the coming year, (1854) a combination of Literary attractions heretofore unattempted by any of the Philadelphia Weeklies. Among the new features will be a new and brilliant series of Original Romances by George Lippard, entitled "Legends of the Last Century." All who have read Mr. Lippard's celebrated Legends of the American Revolution published for fifty-six consecutive weeks in the Saturday Courier, will find these pictures of French and American History endowed with all the power and brilliancy of his previous productions. The first of a series of Original Novellettes, called "Morris Hartley," or the Knights of the Mystic Valley, by Harrison W. Ainsworth, is about to be commenced. It will be handsomely illustrated with 12 fine engravings, and its startling incidents cannot fail to elicit undivided praise. Emerson's Bennet, the distinguished Novelist, the favorite of the West, and the author of some of the finest productions ever read, is also engaged to furnish a brilliant Novellette to follow the above. Mrs. Mary Andrews Denison, author of Home Pictures, Patience Worthington and her Grandmother, &c., will contribute a splendid Domestic Novellette, entitled the "Old Ivy Grove," and H. C. Watson an illustrated Story called the "Two Edged Knife"—a graphic picture of Early Life in Old Kentucky. To these will be added Original Contributions and selections from Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz, Clara Clairville, Little Libby, Grace Greenwald, and other distinguished writers; the news of the day, graphic editorials, full reports of the provision, money, and stock markets, letters from travelers at home and abroad, &c., &c.

THE BRITISH PERIODICALS.

AND THE

FARMER'S GUIDE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO.,

No. 54 Gold street, New York,

CONTINUE to publish the four leading

British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine; in addition to which they have recently commenced the publication of a valuable Agricultural work, called

"FARMER'S GUIDE TO SCIENTIFIC

AND PRACTICAL AGRICULTURE."

By HENRY STEPHENS, F. R. S., of Edinburgh, author of the "Book of the Farm,"

&c., &c.; assisted by JOHN P. NORTON,

M. A., New Haven, Professor of Scientific

Agriculture in Yale College, &c., &c.

This highly valuable work will comprise two large royal octavo volumes, containing over 1400 pages, with 18 or 20 splendid steel engravings, and more than 600 engravings on wood, in the highest style of the art, illustrating almost every implement of husbandry now in use by the best farmers,

the best methods of plowing, planting, haymaking, harvesting, &c., &c., the various domestic animals in their highest perfection; in short the pictorial feature of the book is unique, and will render it of incalculeable value to the student of Agriculture.

This work is being published in Semi-monthly Numbers, of 64 pages each, exclusive of the Steel engravings, and is sold at 25 cents each, or $5 for the entire work in numbers, of which there will be at least twenty-two.

The British Periodicals Re-published

are as follows, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative).

The Edinburgh Review (Whig).

The North British Review (Free Church).

The Westminster Review (Liberal), and Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer), "My Peninsular

Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood,

AFTER IT HAS BEEN ISSUED BY MESSRS.

SCOTT & CO., so that subscribers to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the EARLIEST reading of these fascinating tales.

TERMS.

vance.)

CLUBBING

A discount of twenty-five per cent. from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus: 4 copies of Blackwood or of one Review will be sent to one address for $9; 4 copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $30;

and so on.

Orders from Clubs must be sent direct to the publishers, as no discount from these prices can be allowed to Agents.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO.,

Entrance 54 Gold street.

Money, current in the States where issued,

will be received at par.

Remittances and communications should be always addressed post-paid or franked, to the Publishers.

Notice.

All those indebted to me by account, would do well to come forward and settle the same, by cash or note; or they will find their accounts in the hands of an officer, for collection; as I am determined to close up all of my old business.

J. A. HALL.

CABINET MAKING.

THE SUBSCRIBER would respectfully announce to the citizens of Lebanon and Marion county, that he still continues to manufacture on the most reasonable terms and in the most workmanlike manner, all articles usually kept in establishments of the kind; such as:

Fine, Marble-top, and common Bureaus,

Fine and common Bedsteads, all sizes,

Springs, Mattresses,

Tables, large and small, &c., &c.

All of which he will sell on as reasonable terms as they can be bought for in any town in Kentucky. Thankful for past favors, I would solicit, and hope to deserve by punctuality to business, a continuance of the patronage hitherto extended to me.

ELEVENTH YEAR

OF THE

LOUISVILLE

WEEKLY COURIER.

Acknowledged by general consent to be the Largest, Best and Cheapest Newspaper in the West.

In issuing the Eleventh Prospectus of the LOUISVILLE WEEKLY COURIER, we have great pleasure in announcing that Mr. Wm. D. Gallagher, Esq., has purchased an interest in the establishment, and he will hereafter be associated with us in its management. Mr. Gallagher is widely known as an able political and literary writer and a gentleman of cultivated taste, and being thoroughly Western in his education, habits and associations, and conversant with our Railroad and Manufacturing interests, we flatter ourselves that he will add largely to the value and interest of the Courier, and render it still more acceptable to its thousands of readers in every section of the great Mississippi

Valley.

The Louisville Weekly Courier, Edited

and Published by

W. D. GALLAGHER & W. N. HALDEMAN.

Is one of the largest, handsomest and best papers in the Union, and for the quantity and quality of matter it contains, and the great care taken in its preparation, it is second to no other paper in the West!

The Cheapest Paper in the West!

As a NEWSPAPER, its character is well established. Our readers of many years will bear witness that for enterprise, energy and reliability, it has borne the palm from all its contemporaries in Kentucky. It is almost invariably ahead in the publication of important news. It procures news of interest from all quarters,

both by telegraph and private express, up to the very moment of publication, and entirely regardless of expense.

As a Commercial Paper, the Courier stands without a rival in Louisville. The gentleman who has had charge of the Commercial Department for the last six years, and whose entire time is devoted to it, has no superior, and his reports may always be regarded as accurate and reliable.

As a Literary Paper, we intend that it shall hereafter occupy much higher ground than heretofore. The Tales and Novellettes we publish will alone be worth ten times the price of the paper.
